Washington Tour

Wonderful Trip Taken by Senior Class and Friends

The Senior Class of Norway High and several citizens enjoyed a wonderful trip to Washington the past week. The party, consisting of 50 members witnessed excellent weather, and the tour went off successfully under the able chaperon, George E. Lord.

The party left Norway at 5:35 o'clock Thursday, March 19. This early start was to insure them of reaching Boston for their official tour train. Some put up at the "Graymore Hotel" while others remained over night with friends.

Friday, the tour party reached Boston, checked all baggage at the South Station and made a trip to the Boston Navy Yard and Custom House Tower. In the navy yard, guides explained the process of dry-docking, marine railways, ship scraping and painting and several other points of interest. The party inspected the only "crane ship" in the world, an expreiment of our country to work on the interior of battleships and large vessels. Also the battleship "Utah" was inspected. This ship has just returned from a South American cruise with General Pershing.

An outbound Boston train carried the party to Fall River Wharf, where the steamer "Providence" was boarded for New York, a night trip.

On Saturday the train was boarded for Philadelphia, where an extended tour was given about the city. A few of the most important buildings and points of interest seen are, Independence Hall, Betsy Ross House, Liberty Bell, Carpenters Hall, Congress Hall, Wanamaker's Store, Fairmont Park and numerous other statues, public buildings, parks, etc. Lunch was served in the Broad Street Station of the Pennsylvania R. R. Co. In the afternoon a trip was made to the largest and most beautiful store in the world, "Wanameker's." The train was taken for Washington, where the entire party put up until Wednesday morning, at the "National Hotel."

During Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, tours of Washington and Virginia were made, visiting the interior of several important buildings. These are only a few of the interesting places seen: Tomb of Unknown Soldier, Lincoln Memorial, Arlington National Cemetery, Capitol, White House, Bureau of Printing and Engraving, Washington's Mansion and Tomb and several museums, libraries, parks, gardens art gallerys and government buildings.

Several had the pleasure of seeing Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Coolidge at the First Congregational church on Sunday, and all had the honor of shaking hands with Mr. Coolidge later in the week. The evenings were at the pleasure of the party.

On the return trip New York was toured, seeing Grant's Tomb, Woolworth Building, Trinity Church, Manhattan Church, Riverside Drive and scores of other places of interest. A novelty to many was the crossing under the Hudson River by means of an electric train, no one was reported getting wet.

The remainder of the trip home was made by boat to Fall River Wharf and by train from there home. No sleeping powders necessary for the members of the tour that Thursday evening on arriving home. The members of the party were:

Votes for "Miss Norway" are not valid unless signed with initials and signature of voter. This rule will govern the contest from date (April 1).

NEW HOME OFFICIALLY OPENED

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen O. Jellerson opened their new home on Pleasant St., Friday and Saturday evening, entertaining two gatherings.

Friday evening their guests included Mr. and Mrs. Norman U. Greenlaw, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Kilborn, Mr. and Mrs. Homer R. Luck, Mr. and Mrs. George F. Hill, Dr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Easton, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence M. Carroll, Mr. and Mrs. Albert L. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart W. Goodwin, Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Burnell, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Pendexter, Mr. and Mrs. Fred S. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Howard H. Potter, Dr. and Mrs. D. M. Stewart and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Wheeler of South Paris. The guests were taken on a tour of inspection and found the rooms attractive and pretty, spring flowers were used in simple decorations. Partners were drawn for auction, the drawing cards bearing an Easter suggestion. After the first hand around, favors were distributed in the shape of little paper caps in bright colors, which were worn during the remainder of the evening. At the end of the game, points were counted, and Mrs. Fred Brown and Fred E. Smith held high scores and received the favors. Attractive buffet refreshments were served in the dining room. In behalf of those present, Hugh Pendexter, in his usual witty way, presented the host and hostess an electric chafing dish.

On Saturday evening their guests were members of the Wild Cat Club, and a few non-members. Supper was served at 6:30, followed by cards and social chat. This was also a most enjoyable evening. Mr. and Mrs. Jellerson were presented an electric percolator.

"Navigation is opened to the corn shop," so says Capt. M. W. Sampson. This on April 1st and he made two trips with a motor boat.

Local Baseball League Coming

A wave of reform is sweeping this part of Oxford County with a reaction in favor of baseball by local players. Some of the larger towns realize semi-pro costs a deal of money and is expensive sport. A reaction from machine-made goods is on the way, with a strong desire to return to Simon pure town rivalry tinctured with enthusiasm and contests of the red blood kind. The cry is to put the local boys into the field and let the best team win. Real sportsmanship has been smothered the past few years according to close observers, and they say we are not making our boys into players. The old time "sand lot' system has evaporated, simply because the youngsters have no incentive aside from school games. Beyond this point there is no baseball interest excepting a desire to land on a soft spot like $35 per week for the summer. Commercialism has throttled the real spirit. Truly we have witnessed scientific playing as by machinery, but the fans want human element and willing to sacrifice display for a sample of old fashioned sport.

Surrounding towns are awake and organizing. Oxford, West Paris, South Paris, Harrison, Buckfield and Bethel have held meetings or made some strong move for a league to include Norway and towns mentioned. Only local players is the unanimous sentiment. West Paris is staging a drama for funds; Harrison contemplates putting on entertainments for the cause and others have plans to secure a start without begging. Mechanic Falls phoned Wednesday night they were agreeable and would have a mill team.

For Norway, Odell C. Rich and Dr. W. N. Swett are leaders in the movement. They have interviewed the controlling powers in the towns mentioned and a joint conference is to be held to elect officers, make regulations and arrange a schedule.

The tentative outline for Norway will give two games each week. We will play town boys and give all applicants a chance. Probably two teams will be picked. No salaries will be paid but all will share equally in the net receipts at the end of the season—provided there is money left.

The managers will not resort to a subscription paper, but a few dances or other entertainment will be offered to secure funds on the start. The team should be self-supporting if the present enthusiasm survives hot weather.

Soon the team must have a name, and to promote interest, the managers will open a contest, giving season tickets for the most appropriate name.

A long list of local boys will be available for at least part of the summer. Among a number mentioned are Cort "Farmer" Hunt, Abe Klain, Paul Nevers, Dale Allen, Manford Palmer, Harold "Dizzy" Kimball, Rex Martin, "Babe" Skillings, Guy Rowe, Ned Shepard, Billy Ledger, "Jim" True, "Reggie" Dyer, Dick Sargent, Dr. Swett, Glenn Andrews, Louis Roy, Frank Andrews, Homer Aldrich. Other players are on the list and will be called to the colors in due season. Dell Rich will have his eye on the high school outfit, hoping to find material there. Eddie Trafton will be expected to drop the fly rod for a bat.

This looks like business for a six or seven town league. Carl Fuller and Clarence MacDonald are behind the movement at South Paris; Harry Delano, Richard Stiles and others are boosting at Oxford; Carl Emery is busy at West Paris; Harley Rawson is leading the group at Buckfield; Mr. Pitts at Harrison is a live wire and Mr. Bartlett is talking it up at Bethel.

If we are to return to the good old days the stage never had a more complete setting than now.

One of the school teachers talked about bugs and beetles to her pupils. They were greatly interested. The next morning Henry Smart startled the school by triumphantly announcing the discovery of a "lady bug" in his hair before he got out of bed that morning.

James C. True has bought the F. A. Danforth place on Pleasant Street. Whether he intends occupying it or not, can't say.

C. H. Brush and friends of Philadelphia are booked to open "The Chatterbox," May 30th. This camp is next the "Kingfisher" owned by Mr. Terhune.

Leon A. French and children, Martha and Junior, are confined to the house by illness.

The "no coasting" sign has been taken away from Pike Hill and put in storage. "Bad Road—pass at your own risk" sign ornaments the highway over Beal's Meadow.

Nate Merrill: "Yes, I carry jail insurance now. It is a good thing! Only a few select drivers can get it and good luck has come to me."

W. A. Brett, Otisfield, has made some 25 gallons of maple syrup. He gets $2.50 per gallon. The sap season is about over he says.

E. H. Boynton, who once, many years ago was our Oxford Depot correspondent. He wrote good items even as a boy and told stories of his neighbors that did not get us into trouble. That was more than thirty years ago. He called on us the other day and left a lot of railroad literature and Haine vacation land trash of the improved sort. Mr. Boynton is the International Tourist Agency of Portland, Maine, with offices at 690 Congress Street, and he can route you where you want to go at reasonable rates.

Vivian M. Akers, the artist, is soon to move from the Woodman rent to the Mrs. Tidd place on the east side of Deering Street. Some wise ones say he has bought the place, however, he has not admitted it to the writer.

F. E. Decoster, Spanish War Veteran of '98 says: "We, with the Bath war veterans, are to erect with the aid of our friends and the good people of the town, a $75,000 00 building as a Memorial Home. The town will be asked to contribute the whole sum. I've made a careful canvass and only Fred Sanborn and Raymond Evirs object and they don't amount to anything anyway."

Norway Grange held its regular session, Saturday, March 28. A picnic dinner was served at noon by the ladies. The meeting was called to order at 1:30 p. m. with nearly all the officers present. After the business meeting, a short program was enjoyed by all.

Otis Jones, son of Judge W. F. Jones, is improving. He has been in a private hospital in Portland for some weeks past. We understand he has now left the hospital.

Miss Hilda Russell returned to Emerson College of Oratory this Thursday morning, after a short vacation at home.

Frank Seymour, tourist printer, from everywhere and nowhere, arrived in town, Saturday night, en route for work. He is hard hit by the degenerate times of machine composition. Turned in the street to travel, homeless, houseless, but not friendless. He stayed at the Tavern over night and then went on to Lewiston.

BAND CONCERT AND BALL A SUCCESS

The band concert and ball given by the Norway-Paris Band at Norway Opera House, Friday evening, was a success. Excellent music was offered in a program from 8 until 9 o'clock, interspersed with readings by Donald B. Partridge and violin selections by Miss Marion Haskell, with Mrs. Ruth Cummings Huston at the piano.

There were twenty-two men in the band with Frank P. Knapp the director. The selections were well chosen and provided means to display the excellent work of the organization. They played with a snap and in excellent time, characteristic of Mr. Knapp's coaching and finished product.

Miss Haskell appeared at her best in two violin selections and encore. Donald B. Partridge, a favorite with Norway audiences, read a number of selections of the serious kind. His encores convulsed the audience with laughter.

An orchestra of fifteen pieces, selected from the band, played for dancing and a merry crowd of about eighty couples enjoyed the hours until midnight. The affair was entirely informal and modern dances predominated.

It is expected the proceeds will clear the small debt and leave a good balance for summer rehearsals and concerts.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Roy Wilson Cordwell, the nine year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cordwell, Elmshade Farm, on the south side of Pike's Hill, entertained a party of his schoolmates and young friends, Saturday afternoon, on the event of his birthday, and they had a happy afternoon. A real ball game was the first on the program out of doors and then games indoors occupied their time and in a peanut hunt, Gordon Coffin won the prize.

Mrs. Cordwell invited them to the dining room where a fine lunch was served. At each plate were little favors and these were tiny baskets in the shape of tulips, suggestive of the season. Ice cream, cake, cookies and candy were enjoyed and three birthday cakes were special attractions. One was made and presented to the small host by Mrs. A. L. Clark. These were cut and served with the ice cream. The table decorations were yellow and red roses. Master Wilson was generously remembered with gifts, and among these were money, books, games, etc.

The boys present were Merle Palmer, Francis Howe, Ernest Scorthorne, Freeman Hall, Jack Yeaton, Carl Foster, Arthur and Alfred Cummings, Gordon and Robert Coffin and two pair of twins, Howarth and Junior Brown and Oneil and Wesley Brown (although no relation) and the two brothers of the host, George and James Cordwell.

SURPRISE PARTY

The joint birthdays of J. Albert and Harry McCready were celebrated last Tuesday evening at the home of J. Albert on Tucker St., by a group of sixteen friends. Mr. Albert was presented with a writing set and Mr. Harry with $5.00 in dimes.

Victrolas furnished music for several old fashioned dances and violin by Miss Rancourt and mouth harp by Mr. La Berge.

After they were invited to the dining room where a very pretty table waited. Yellow and white was the color scheme. The party broke up at a late hour wishing them many happy birthdays.

MERCHANTS' ASSOCIATION MEETING

The annual meeting of the Norway Merchants' Association was held, Tuesday evening, at the store of the E. N. Swett Shoe Co. The treasurer's report showed a substantial sum on hand with the Association active and alive.

Obituary

Mrs. Marian (Ring) Bradbury

Suffering from a nervous breakdown, Mrs. Marian R. Bradbury, wife of Geo. A. Bradbury, committed suicide by inhaling illuminating gas at her home, 94 Rackleff street, Portland, Monday night. Mrs. Bradbury, who is said to have made threats of suicide recently, left her bed sometime during the night and going to the living room, lay down near a baseboard cock and drew a coat over her, forming a chamber for the gas from the cock, which she apparently opened.

Missing his wife in the morning, Mr. Bradbury located her on the floor of the living room and summoned medical assistance. A medical examiner was summoned and pronounced death self inflicted.

Mrs. Bradbury was a native of Bridgton, where she was born 34 years ago, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam H. Ring, now of Redlands, Cal.

For some time she attended Norway High, but returned to Bridgton where she graduated. While in Norway, she made her home with Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Swain. She worked for two years at the Cottage Studio.

South Paris Locals

Leslie L. Mason

Leslie Lee Mason, prominent business man and manufacturer of toys, passed away at St. Petersburg, Fla., Saturday night, at the age of 57 years. He suffered a shock two years ago, from which he never fully recovered and during the past winter had appeared in better health under the influences of the southern climate.

The deceased was born in Bethel, July 4, 1868, son of Oliver H. and Olive M. Lee Mason. He was educated at Gould Academy and in a business college at Poughkeepsie, N. Y. Some years ago he commenced operating small mills, getting out spool bars and dowel stock, this expanded into other lines until the ambition of youth commenced to be fulfilled when wooden toys were manufactured in a small way.

For a number of years his headquarters were in Portland and about twenty years ago he established the Mason Manufacturing Company in South Paris. The old Shurtleff grist mill near the bridge was equipped for the manufacture of wooden toys and operated successfully until burned in 1906.

Within a comparatively short time the nucleus for the present factory located near the Grand Trunk Railway, was in operation and business increased rapidly. Today the factory is one of the largest in the chain operated by the United States Toymakers' Association with its products shipped to all parts of the world.

Some years ago Mr. Mason became a permanent resident here and purchased the Wallace Ryerson property, one of the largest and finest residences in South Paris.

He entered into the community life and soon became a commanding figure in its activities. He was for years vice president of the Paris Trust Co., formerly president of the Board of Trade and active in the Kiwanis Club. Mr. Mason was prominent in Masonic circles and generous in his contributions to all worthy objects.

He married first, Miss Maud Kimball of Bangor, who died in 1915. In 1918 he married Mrs. Lucia Trowbridge Colcord of Portland, who survives. He leaves one daughter, Mrs. Arthur K. Underwood of Auburn, N. Y., and one son, Donald Mason, a student in Bowdoin College. There is also one grandson, Arthur K. Underwood, Jr. He is also survived by his mother, Mrs. Olive M. Mason, and a half-sister, Miss Alice G. Mason, of Bethel.

The funeral was held at the home, Thursday at 11 a. m., Rev. Olin B. Tracy of Norway officiated. All business places were closed from 11 until 12.

Willard J. Curtis

After years of failing health, Willard J. Curtis died at his home, Friday morning, March 27. Mr. Curtis was the son of James and Lucretia (Bridgham) Curtis, and was born in South Paris, June 5, 1854. As a boy he went to work for the canning firm of Burnham & Morrill, and continued with them throughout his active life. He was in Nova Scotia for a while in their lobster packing establishment, and later was in charge of the corn factory at West Paris for many years. Thirteen years ago he retired, and the family came to South Paris to make their home.

Mr. Curtis married Eva Lurvey, July 3, 1897. She survives him, with one son, Willard J., Jr., who is in the packing house of Swift & Co., at Pittsburg, Pa., and one daughter, Gertrude, wife of Gordon Marsh of South Paris. He also leaves one brother, Carroll G. Curtis of Oxford, and four sisters, Mrs. Ella, wife of George E. Wilson of Fairfield, Mrs. Louise, wife of Fred Lewis of Kennebunk, Mrs. Annie Everett of Poland, and Mrs. Hattie Selden of Portland.

He was a member of Paris Lodge, F. and A. M., and the funeral, which was held at the Universalist Church at 2 o'clock, Sunday, was in charge of that lodge and attended by Rev. C. G. Miller. Burial was in Pine Grove Cemetery.

Washington Tour

Wonderful Trip Taken by Senior Class and Friends

The Senior Class of Norway High and several citizens enjoyed a wonderful trip to Washington the past week. The party, consisting of 50 members witnessed excellent weather, and the tour went off successfully under the able chaperon, George E. Lord.

The party left Norway at 5:35 o'clock Thursday, March 19. This early start was to insure them of reaching Boston for their official tour train. Some put up at the "Graymore Hotel" while others remained over night with friends.

Friday, the tour party reached Boston, checked all baggage at the South Station and made a trip to the Boston Navy Yard and Custom House Tower. In the navy yard, guides explained the process of dry-docking, marine railways, ship scraping and painting and several other points of interest. The party inspected the only "crane ship" in the world, an expreiment of our country to work on the interior of battleships and large vessels. Also the battleship "Utah" was inspected. This ship has just returned from a South American cruise with General Pershing.

An outbound Boston train carried the party to Fall River Wharf, where the steamer "Providence" was boarded for New York, a night trip.

On Saturday the train was boarded for Philadelphia, where an extended tour was given about the city. A few of the most important buildings and points of interest seen are, Independence Hall, Betsy Ross House, Liberty Bell, Carpenters Hall, Congress Hall, Wanamaker's Store, Fairmont Park and numerous other statues, public buildings, parks, etc. Lunch was served in the Broad Street Station of the Pennsylvania R. R. Co. In the afternoon a trip was made to the largest and most beautiful store in the world, "Wanameker's." The train was taken for Washington, where the entire party put up until Wednesday morning, at the "National Hotel."

These are only a few of the interesting places seen: Tomb of Unknown Soldier, Lincoln Memorial, Arlington National Cemetery, Capitol, White House, Bureau of Printing and Engraving, Washington's Mansion and Tomb and several museums, libraries, parks, gardens art gallerys and government buildings.

Several had the pleasure of seeing Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Coolidge at the First Congregational church on Sunday, and all had the honor of shaking hands with Mr. Coolidge later in the week. The evenings were at the pleasure of the party.

On the return trip New York was toured, seeing Grant's Tomb, Woolworth Building, Trinity Church, Manhattan Church, Riverside Drive and scores of other places of interest. A novelty to many was the crossing under the Hudson River by means of an electric train, no one was reported getting wet.

Knights of Pythias 1380; Eagles 1364

A lively scrimmage was staged at Parrin's Alleys, Tuesday evening, in the Norway Fraternal Bowling League. The Knights topped the Golden Eagles with a narrow margin of 16 pins for three strings. No records were broken but rolling was close until the end of the second string when the Knights led with 34 pins. During the third session the Eagles spread their wings and overshadowed the Knights with 18 pins, but not enough to sew up the game.

This winning places the Knights at the head of the League with one game margin.

NEW HOME OFFICIALLY OPENED

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen O. Jellerson opened their new home on Pleasant St., Friday and Saturday evening, entertaining two gatherings.

Friday evening their guests included Mr. and Mrs. Norman U. Greenlaw, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Kilborn, Mr. and Mrs. Homer R. Luck, Mr. and Mrs. George F. Hill, Dr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Easton, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence M. Carroll, Mr. and Mrs. Albert L. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart W. Goodwin, Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Burnell, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Pendexter, Mr. and Mrs. Fred S. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Howard H. Potter, Dr. and Mrs. D. M. Stewart and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Wheeler of South Paris. The guests were taken on a tour of inspection and found the rooms attractive and pretty, spring flowers were used in simple decorations. Partners were drawn for auction, the drawing cards bearing an Easter suggestion. After the first hand around, favors were distributed in the shape of little paper caps in bright colors, which were worn during the remainder of the evening. At the end of the game, points were counted, and Mrs. Fred Brown and Fred E. Smith, held high scores and received the favors. Attractive buffet refreshments were served in the dining room. In behalf of those present, Hugh Pendexter, in his usual witty way, presented the host and hostess an electric chafing dish.

On Saturday evening their guests were members of the Wild Cat Club, and a few non-members. Supper was served at 6:30, followed by cards and social chat. This was also a most enjoyable evening. Mr. and Mrs. Jellerson were presented an electric percolator.

"Navigation is opened to the corn shop," so says Capt. M. W. Sampson. This on April 1st and he made two trips with a motor boat.

Local Baseball League Coming

A wave of reform is sweeping this part of Oxford County with a reaction in favor of baseball by local players. Some of the larger towns realize semi-pro costs a deal of money and is expensive sport. A reaction from machine-made goods is on the way, with a strong desire to return to Simon pure town rivalry tinctured with enthusiasm and contests of the red blood kind. The cry is to put the local boys into the field and let the best team win. Real sportsmanship has been smothered the past few years according to close observers, and they say we are not making our boys into players. The old time "sand lot' system has evaporated, simply because the youngsters have no incentive aside from school games. Beyond this point there is no baseball interest excepting a desire to land on a soft spot like $35 per week for the summer. Commercialism has throttled the real spirit. Truly we have witnessed scientific playing as by machinery, but the fans want human element and willing to sacrifice display for a sample of old fashioned sport.

Surrounding towns are awake and organizing. Oxford, West Paris, South Paris, Harrison, Buckfield and Bethel have held meetings or made some strong move for a league to include Norway and towns mentioned. Only local players is the unanimous sentiment. West Paris is staging a drama for funds; Harrison contemplates putting on entertainments for the cause and others have plans to secure a start without begging. Mechanic Falls phoned Wednesday night they were agreeable and would have a mill team.

For Norway, Odell C. Rich and Dr. W. N. Swett are leaders in the movement. They have interviewed the controlling powers in the towns mentioned and a joint conference is to be held to elect officers, make regulations and arrange a schedule.

The tentative outline for Norway will give two games each week. We will play town boys and give all applicants a chance. Probably two teams will be picked. No salaries will be paid but all will share equally in the net receipts at the end of the season—provided there is money left.

The managers will not resort to a subscription paper, but a few dances or other entertainment will be offered to secure funds on the start. The team should be self-supporting if the present enthusiasm survives hot weather.

Soon the team must have a name, and to promote interest, the managers will open a contest, giving season tickets for the most appropriate name.

A long list of local boys will be available for at least part of the summer. Among a number mentioned are Cort "Farmer" Hunt, Abe Klain, Paul Nevers, Dale Allen, Manford Palmer, Harold "Dizzy" Kimball, Rex Martin, "Babe" Skillings, Guy Rowe, Ned Shepard, Billy Ledger, "Jim" True, "Reggie" Dyer, Dick Sargent, Dr. Swett, Glenn Andrews, Louis Roy, Frank Andrews, Homer Aldrich. Other players are on the list and will be called to the colors in due season. Dell Rich will have his eye on the high school outfit, hoping to find material there. Eddie Trafton will be expected to drop the fly rod for a bat.

This looks like business for a six or seven town league. Carl Fuller and Clarence MacDonald are behind the movement at South Paris; Harry Delano, Richard Stiles and others are boosting at Oxford; Carl Emery is busy at West Paris; Harley Rawson is leading the group at Buckfield; Mr. Pitts at Harrison is a live wire and Mr. Bartlett is talking it up at Bethel.

If we are to return to the good old days the stage never had a more complete setting than now.

One of the school teachers talked about bugs and beetles to her pupils. They were greatly interested. The next morning Henry Smart startled the school by triumphantly announcing the discovery of a "lady bug" in his hair before he got out of bed that morning.

James C. True has bought the F. A. Danforth place on Pleasant Street. Whether he intends occupying it or not, can't say.

C. H. Brush and friends of Philadelphia are booked to open "The Chatterbox," May 30th. This camp is next the "Kingfisher" owned by Mr. Terhune.

Leon A. French and children, Martha and Junior, are confined to the house by illness.

The "no coasting" sign has been taken away from Pike Hill and put in storage. "Bad Road—pass at your own risk" sign ornaments the highway over Beal's Meadow.

Nate Merrill: "Yes, I carry jail insurance now. It is a good thing! Only a few select drivers can get it and good luck has come to me."

W. A. Brett, Otisfield, has made some 25 gallons of maple syrup. He gets $2.50 per gallon. The sap season is about over he says.

E. H. Boynton, who once, many years ago was our Oxford Depot correspondent. He wrote good items even as a boy and told stories of his neighbors that did not get us into trouble. That was more than thirty years ago. He called on us the other day and left a lot of railroad literature and Haine vacation land trash of the improved sort. Mr. Boynton is the International Tourist Agency of Portland, Maine, with offices at 690 Congress Street, and he can route you where you want to go at reasonable rates.

Vivian M. Akers, the artist, is soon to move from the Woodman rent to the Mrs. Tidd place on the east side of Deering Street. Some wise ones say he has bought the place, however, he has not admitted it to the writer.

F. E. Decoster, Spanish War Veteran of '98 says: "We, with the Bath war veterans, are to erect with the aid of our friends and the good people of the town, a $75,000 00 building as a Memorial Home. The town will be asked to contribute the whole sum. I've made a careful canvass and only Fred Sanborn and Raymond Evirs object and they don't amount to anything anyway."

Norway Grange held its regular session, Saturday, March 28. A picnic dinner was served at noon by the ladies. The meeting was called to order at 1:30 p. m. with nearly all the officers present. After the business meeting, a short program was enjoyed by all.

Otis Jones, son of Judge W. F. Jones, is improving. He has been in a private hospital in Portland for some weeks past. We understand he has now left the hospital.

Miss Hilda Russell returned to Emerson College of Oratory this Thursday morning, after a short vacation at home.

Frank Seymour, tourist printer, from everywhere and nowhere, arrived in town, Saturday night, en route for work. He is hard hit by the degenerate times of machine composition. Turned in the street to travel, homeless, houseless but not friendless. He stayed at the Tavern over night and then went on to Lewiston.

BAND CONCERT AND BALL A SUCCESS

The band concert and ball given by the Norway-Paris Band at Norway Opera House, Friday evening, was a success. Excellent music was offered in a program from 8 until 9 o'clock, interspersed with readings by Donald B. Partridge and violin selections by Miss Marion Haskell, with Mrs. Ruth Cummings Huston at the piano.

There were twenty-two men in the band with Frank P. Knapp the director. The selections were well chosen and provided means to display the excellent work of the organization. They played with a snap and in excellent time, characteristic of Mr. Knapp's coaching and finished product.

Miss Haskell appeared at her best in two violin selections and encore. Donald B. Partridge, a favorite with Norway audiences, read a number of selections of the serious kind. His encores convulsed the audience with laughter.

An orchestra of fifteen pieces, selected from the band, played for dancing and a merry crowd of about eighty couples enjoyed the hours until midnight. The affair was entirely informal and modern dances predominated.

It is expected the proceeds will clear the small debt and leave a good balance for summer rehearsals and concerts.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Roy Wilson Cordwell, the nine year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cordwell, Elmshade Farm, on the south side of Pike's Hill, entertained a party of his schoolmates and young friends, Saturday afternoon, on the event of his birthday, and they had a happy afternoon. A real ball game was the first on the program out of doors and then games indoors occupied their time and in a peanut hunt, Gordon Coffin won the prize.

Mrs. Cordwell invited them to the dining room where a fine lunch was served. At each plate were little favors and these were tiny baskets in the shape of tulips, suggestive of the season. Ice cream, cake, cookies and candy were enjoyed and three birthday cakes were special attractions. One was made and presented to the small host by Mrs. A. L. Clark. These were cut and served with the ice cream. The table decorations were yellow and red roses. Master Wilson was generously remembered with gifts, and among these were money, books, games, etc.

The boys present were Merle Palmer, Francis Howe, Ernest Scorthorne, Freeman Hall, Jack Yeaton, Carl Foster, Arthur and Alfred Cummings, Gordon and Robert Coffin and two pair of twnis, Howarth and Junior Brown and Oneil and Wesley Brown (although no relation) and the two brothers of the host, George and James Cordwell.

Peabody is to be assistant to the general manager at Norwood, Mass., with charge of export and carbon black department. Mr. Peabody will be remembered as at one time a resident of Norway and engaged in making shoes.

A copy of the Salem Evening News arrives. It was sent by Col. C. H. Masury of Danvers. In it is a notice regarding his wife, who has over one hundred different patterns of pitchers; some of them are of great value. They carry a separate and special insurance on these. It represents many years of collecting.

Norway Lodge No. 16, I. O. O. F., will work the 3rd degree, Tuesday evening, April 7th, and Mt. Mica Lodge of South Paris has been invited to attend and bring their candidates. There will be refreshment after the work.

Harry Lovejoy hasn't put red paint on his rubber boots as yet. He says, "Tell 'em I'll take all the coal ashes this Spring as usual."

The last dooryard fence on Main Street has disappeared. Taken down and put in the dump, Wednesday. Nate Merrill did it. He also cut trees and bushes that have embellished the way to the residence of the late W. S. Cordwell. It certainly looks better.

Obituary

Mrs. Marian (Ring) Bradbury

Suffering from a nervous breakdown, Mrs. Marian R. Bradbury, wife of Geo. A. Bradbury, committed suicide by inhaling illuminating gas at her home, 94 Rackleff street, Portland, Monday night. Mrs. Bradbury, who is said to have made threats of suicide recently, left her bed sometime during the night and going to the living room, lay down near a baseboard cock and drew a coat over her, forming a chamber for the gas from the cock, which she apparently opened.

Mrs. Bradbury was a native of Bridgton, where she was born 34 years ago, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam H. Ring, now of Redlands, Cal.

South Paris Locals

Leslie L. Mason

Leslie Lee Mason, prominent business man and manufacturer of toys, passed away at St. Petersburg, Fla., Saturday night, at the age of 57 years. He suffered a shock two years ago, from which he never fully recovered and during the past winter had appeared in better health under the influences of the southern climate.

The deceased was born in Bethel, July 4, 1868, son of Oliver H. and Olive M. Lee Mason. He was educated at Gould Academy and in a business college at Poughkeepsie, N. Y. Some years ago he commenced operating small mills, getting out spool bars and dowel stock, this expanded into other lines until the ambition of youth commenced to be fulfilled when wooden toys were manufactured in a small way.

For a number of years his headquarters were in Portland and about twenty years ago he established the Mason Manufacturing Company in South Paris. The old Shurtleff grist mill near the bridge was equipped for the manufacture of wooden toys and operated successfully until burned in 1906.

Within a comparatively short time the nucleus for the present factory located near the Grand Trunk Railway, was in operation and business increased rapidly. Today the factory is one of the largest in the chain operated by the United States Toymakers' Association with its products shipped to all parts of the world.

Some years ago Mr. Mason became a permanent resident here and purchased the Wallace Ryerson property, one of the largest and finest residences in South Paris.

He entered into the community life and soon became a commanding figure in its activities. He was for years vice president of the Paris Trust Co., formerly president of the Board of Trade and active in the Kiwanis Club. Mr. Mason was prominent in Masonic circles and generous in his contributions to all worthy objects.

He married first, Miss Maud Kimball of Bangor, who died in 1915. In 1918 he married Mrs. Lucia Trowbridge Colcord of Portland, who survives. He leaves one daughter, Mrs. Arthur K. Underwood of Auburn, N. Y., and one son, Donald Mason, a student in Bowdoin College. There is also one grandson, Arthur K. Underwood, Jr. He is also survived by his mother, Mrs. Olive M. Mason, and a half-sister, Miss Alice G. Mason, of Bethel.

The funeral was held at the home, Thursday at 11 a. m., Rev. Olin B. Tracy of Norway officiated. All business places were closed from 11 until 12.

Willard J. Curtis

After years of failing health, Willard J. Curtis died at his home, Friday morning, March 27. Mr. Curtis was the son of James and Lucretia (Bridgham) Curtis, and was born in South Paris, June 8, 1854. As a boy he went to work for the canning firm of Burnham & Morrill, and continued with them throughout his active life. He was in Nova Scotia for a while in their lobster packing establishment, and later was in charge of the corn factory at West Paris for many years. Thirteen years ago he retired, and the family came to South Paris to make their home.

Mr. Curtis married Eva Lurvey, July 3, 1897. She survives him, with one son, Willard J., Jr., who is in the packing house of Swift & Co., at Pittsburg, Pa., and one daughter, Gertrude, wife of Gordon Marsh of South Paris. He also leaves one brother, Carroll G. Curtis of Oxford, and four sisters, Mrs. Ella, wife of George E. Wilson of Fairfield, Mrs. Louise, wife of Fred Lewis of Kennebunk, Mrs. Annie Everett of Poland, and Mrs. Hattie Selden of Portland.

He was a member of Paris Lodge, F. and A. M., and the funeral, which was held at the Universalist Church at 2 o'clock, Sunday, was in charge of that lodge and attended by Rev. C. G. Miller. Burial was in Pine Grove Cemetery.

Norway People Must Believe Such Convincing Testimony as Mrs. Payne's

No one in Norway who suffers backache, headaches, dizziness, rheumatic pains or distressing urinary ills can afford to ignore this twice-told story of a Norway resident. It is confirmed testimony, telling of lasting benefit from Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys. It's evidence that no man or woman in Norway can doubt.

Mrs. Myrtie Payne, 237 Main St., says, "I had more or less pain across my back and kidneys which annoyed me when stooping or lifting. I found Doan's Pills good for the trouble and after I used this remedy the pains lessened. have been practically free from the trouble since taking Doan's."

A few years later, Mrs. Payne said: "The good Doan's Pills did me has lasted.

Anniversary Poem

This poem was written and read by Miss Ethel Thomes of Portland and Harrison at the Grange anniversary of Harrison Grange, Dec. 6, 1924.

Once a mean man,
Or so the story goes;
Arrived at Heaven's gate,
Released from earthly woes.

And there he met St. Peter,
That guardian, good and wise,
Who asked him why he thought that he
Should enter Paradise.

The man replied that once
A child had lost a penny in the street,
He'd wiped her tears and gave a cent
To make her joy complete.

The recording angel said 'twas so,
"What more?" St. Peter cried;
And then this tale he did relate
With mein quite satisfied.

One night he met a newsboy
With his papers—out of luck—
And he had bought a paper,
His heart with pity struck.

The recording angel said 'twas so,
Much discussion then befell,
"Here, take your three cents," said Peter, at last,
"And go to ——" where, we won't tell.

Today, we come to look backward
O'er the years since our Grange began,
And we find that they number fifty—
Of man's life, the working span.

And we learn that the Grange of the Nation,
In scanning its history o'er,
Its purpose, the uplift of the farmer,
Was founded but seven before.

Its founder was O. H. Kelly,
A government man, tried and true,
But it took the brain of a woman to think
Of bringing the women in, too.

And has it served its purpose
In the years that its life has run?
Well, let us now consider
Some things that the Grange has done.

If as to chronological order,
We have neither tune nor time,
Remember it isn't easy,
When you tell it all in rhyme.

It has been largely instrumental,
By the use of power and tact,
In passing legislation
Like the Interstate Commerce Act.

In founding Experiment Stations;
The Postal Savings Bank Law;
Parcel Post and Rural Delivery
It long was working for.

The Department of Agriculture
Has reason the Grange to praise
For a place in the Cabinet,
Its leader it helped to raise.

And in these affairs of the nation,
Has our Grange had a part?
As the veins of the human body
Are useful to the heart

So the work of subordinate granges
Are to the nation and state,
For from little towns and hamlets
Are recruited the nation's great.

Its training in public speaking,
Discussing the affairs of the day,
Have helped in self-expression
As many a leader will say.

But for all the Grange's achievements,
I would count as the greatest good,
Whatever it has accomplished
In the feeling of brotherhood.

We gain by co-operation,
Together we rise or fall,
By success are all exalted,
And what hurts one, hurts all.

There's many a heart discouraged,
If we're not too selfish to heed,
When simply knowing that somebody cares
May be all the help it will need.

And as one who's been often befriended
Ere the day when from life, I depart;
I would like to keep one child from evil,
Or give hope to one hungry heart.

And I honestly feel that to own all the wealth
Of this beautiful town and land,
I would rather know to the soul in need,
That I'd help out a hand.

—E. E. T.

THE MELANCHOLY HOUR

The day was one of despair,
Dark as the darkest night;
We needed the sun to repair
What the black had tried to smite.

But the sun shone not, that day,
And the perils soon put to flight,
All who had ventured that way
To feel the thrills of such plight.

This dark could not always stay,
For somehow when Morn should come,
Night would depart in the spray,
Which from the fountain would run.

But the dreams of our childhood remain,
As the shadows around us creep,
Hence from the folds of despair we refrain,
When forsaken, we ride on the Deep.

—ANNETTE M. HAYDEN,
Buckfield High School.

TODAY

We shall do so much in the years to come,
But what have we done today?
We shall give out gold in princely sum,
But what did we give today?
We shall lift the heart and dry the tear,
We shall plant a hope in the place of fear,
We shall speak with words of love and cheer,
But what have we done today?
We shall be so kind in the after while,
But what have we been today?
We shall bring to each lonely life a smile,
But what have we brought today?
We shall give to truth a grander birth,
And to steadfast faith a deeper worth,
We shall feed the hungering souls of earth,
But whom have we fed today?

—Nixon Waterman.

OXFORD COUNTY IN 1812

(Last Article, No. 5, was in issue Feb. 6)
By Charles E. Waterman

Livermore, like Turner, was a part of Oxford County in 1812 and, like her, became a part of Androscoggin when that county was formed in 1854.

In many respects she was the foremost town at the time of the formation of Oxford County. She furnished two of the first board of county officers, Dr. Cyrus Hamlin, first clerk of courts, and General David Learned, first sheriff.

The first of these men furnished the most noted family of the county so far, his son, Hannibel Hamlin, attaining a greater political height than any other Oxford County man. The Hamlins were relaitves of the famous Washburn family of Livermore and one of the noted sons of the family, Israel Washburn, Jr., Civil War governor of Maine, lived with the Hamlin family on Paris Hill for a few years while he studied law.

The second had the honor of naming the County. General Learned was born in Oxford, Mass., which in turn was named from the town in England, so one can see that Oxford County is named indirectly for the famous English University town.

Livermore sent three companies of infantry under the command of Colonel Samuel Holland, for the defense of Portland. The rolls of these companies follow:

What is the difference in value of the two heifers

Some good farmers figure that it pays them to hold their heifers back and not let them freshen until they are three years old.

We say feed them Universal Ration and make these three year olds in size when they are two.

It can be done. We have done it.

We have produced heifers weighing 1500 lbs. at thirty months of age. Think what it saves you. The ration costs less than corn meal.

Making milk and not making money is tough.

Read of new methods in this new book.

Sent free to farmers. Write today.

G. R. Ogilvie, Mgr. Bonalevo Farms, at Batavia, N. Y., says: "We have been able to reduce our feed bill for our young stock over $60.00 a month, and the cattle are doing as well as they did on a much higher priced ration.

Norway People Must Believe Such Convincing Testimony as Mrs. Payne's

No one in Norway who suffers backache, headaches, dizziness, rheumatic pains or distressing urinary ills can afford to ignore this twice-told story of a Norway resident. It is confirmed testimony, telling of lasting benefit from Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys. It's evidence that no man or woman in Norway can doubt.

Mrs. Myrtie Payne, 237 Main St., says, "I had more or less pain across my back and kidneys which annoyed me when stooping or lifting. I found Doan's Pills good for the trouble and after I used this remedy the pains lessened. have been practically free from the trouble since taking Doan's."

A few years later, Mrs. Payne said: "The good Doan's Pills did me has lasted.

Anniversary Poem

This poem was written and read by Miss Ethel Thomes of Portland and Harrison at the Grange anniversary of Harrison Grange, Dec. 6, 1924.

Once a mean man,
Or so the story goes;
Arrived at Heaven's gate,
Released from earthly woes.

And there he met St. Peter,
That guardian, good and wise,
Who asked him why he thought that he
Should enter Paradise.

The man replied that once
A child had lost a penny in the street,
He'd wiped her tears and gave a cent
To make her joy complete.

The recording angel said 'twas so,
"What more?" St. Peter cried;
And then this tale he did relate
With mein quite satisfied.

One night he met a newsboy
With his papers—out of luck—
And he had bought a paper,
His heart with pity struck.

The recording angel said 'twas so,
Much discussion then befell,
"Here, take your three cents," said Peter, at last,
"And go to ——" where, we won't tell.

Today, we come to look backward
O'er the years since our Grange began,
And we find that they number fifty—
Of man's life, the working span.

And we learn that the Grange of the Nation,
In scanning its history o'er,
Its purpose, the uplift of the farmer,
Was founded but seven before.

Its founder was O. H. Kelly,
A government man, tried and true,
But it took the brain of a woman to think
Of bringing the women in, too.

And has it served its purpose
In the years that its life has run?
Well, let us now consider
Some things that the Grange has done.

If as to chronological order,
We have neither tune nor time,
Remember it isn't easy,
When you tell it all in rhyme.

It has been largely instrumental,
By the use of power and tact,
In passing legislation
Like the Interstate Commerce Act.

In founding Experiment Stations;
The Postal Savings Bank Law;
Parcel Post and Rural Delivery
It long was working for.

The Department of Agriculture
Has reason the Grange to praise
For a place in the Cabinet,
Its leader it helped to raise.

And in these affairs of the nation,
Has our Grange had a part?
As the veins of the human body
Are useful to the heart

So the work of subordinate granges
Are to the nation and state,
For from little towns and hamlets
Are recruited the nation's great.

Its training in public speaking,
Discussing the affairs of the day,
Have helped in self-expression
As many a leader will say.

But for all the Grange's achievements,
I would count as the greatest good,
Whatever it has accomplished
In the feeling of brotherhood.

We gain by co-operation,
Together we rise or fall,
By success are all exalted,
And what hurts one, hurts all.

There's many a heart discouraged,
If we're not too selfish to heed,
When simply knowing that somebody cares
May be all the help it will need.

And as one who's been often befriended
Ere the day when from life, I depart;
I would like to keep one child from evil,
Or give hope to one hungry heart.

And I honestly feel that to own all the wealth
Of this beautiful town and land,
I would rather know to the soul in need,
That I'd help out a hand.

—E. E. T.

THE MELANCHOLY HOUR

The day was one of despair,
Dark as the darkest night;
We needed the sun to repair
What the black had tried to smite.

But the sun shone not, that day,
And the perils soon put to flight,
All who had ventured that way
To feel the thrills of such plight.

This dark could not always stay,
For somehow when Morn should come,
Night would depart in the spray,
Which from the fountain would run.

But the dreams of our childhood remain,
As the shadows around us creep,
Hence from the folds of despair we refrain,
When forsaken, we ride on the Deep.

—ANNETTE M. HAYDEN,
Buckfield High School.

TODAY

We shall do so much in the years to come,
But what have we done today?
We shall give out gold in princely sum,
But what did we give today?
We shall lift the heart and dry the tear,
We shall plant a hope in the place of fear,
We shall speak with words of love and cheer,
But what have we done today?
We shall be so kind in the after while,
But what have we been today?
We shall bring to each lonely life a smile,
But what have we brought today?
We shall give to truth a grander birth,
And to steadfast faith a deeper worth,
We shall feed the hungering souls of earth,
But whom have we fed today?

—Nixon Waterman.

OXFORD COUNTY IN 1812

(Last Article, No. 5, was in issue Feb. 6)
By Charles E. Waterman

Livermore, like Turner, was a part of Oxford County in 1812 and, like her, became a part of Androscoggin when that county was formed in 1854.

In many respects she was the foremost town at the time of the formation of Oxford County. She furnished two of the first board of county officers, Dr. Cyrus Hamlin, first clerk of courts, and General David Learned, first sheriff.

The first of these men furnished the most noted family of the county so far, his son, Hannibel Hamlin, attaining a greater political height than any other Oxford County man. The Hamlins were relaitves of the famous Washburn family of Livermore and one of the noted sons of the family, Israel Washburn, Jr., Civil War governor of Maine, lived with the Hamlin family on Paris Hill for a few years while he studied law.

The second had the honor of naming the County. General Learned was born in Oxford, Mass., which in turn was named from the town in England, so one can see that Oxford County is named indirectly for the famous English University town..

Livermore sent three companies of infantry under the command of Colonel Samuel Holland, for the defense of Portland. The rolls of these companies follow:

What is the difference in value of the two heifers

Some good farmers figure that it pays them to hold their heifers back and not let them freshen until they are three years old.

We say feed them Universal Ration and make these three year olds in size when they are two.

It can be done. We have done it.

We have produced heifers weighing 1500 lbs. at thirty months of age. Think what it saves you. The ration costs less than corn meal.

Making milk and not making money is tough.

Read of new methods in this new book.

Sent free to farmers. Write today.

G. R. Ogilvie, Mgr. Bonalevo Farms, at Batavia, N. Y., says: "We have been able to reduce our feed bill for our young stock over $60.00 a month, and the cattle are doing as well as they did on a much higher priced ration.

Greenwood Valley

By Morrill N. Packard

In the mountains up from Norway
Reached by winding rugged roadway
Lies a vale in witching Greenwood
Where I spent my verdant boyhood.
Bound by Young hill's northern summit,
Shaw's ledge western dome of granite
Witt hill's lofty eastern sky line
Norway hills for southern confine.
Steeply down from Young hill's gullet
Crossing upland swells and runlet
Climbing steps of Shaw's ledge gulley
Winds the only road through valley.
Just three farms the valley boasted
Sloping down from mountains crested
Through the pastures, fields and meadows
To the bog with swamps and shallows.
Past the cave of Rocky Dundee
Runs the trout brook down the valley
Over ripraps, shoals and ledges
Etching way through brush and sedges.
Stone walls old with lichen faces
Guide the road through upland spaces
Tracing farms and fields and pastures,
Casting valleys rustic features,
Over hung with shrubs and brambles
Sunne bush and ivy tangles.
By the roads and orchard bowers
Homes with grassy lawns and flowers,
Firesides blest with sturdy households
Where the virtues guard the thresholds
And the lives of worthy gentry
Grow in love of God and country.
Saw the mountain's great aurora
Waking valley's dewy flora
Waiting sunrise coming glory
Gilding Shaw's' ledge summit hoary,
Then adown the mountain broadens
Golden surface, till it deepens
Flooding whole of wakened valley
Thrilling nature's daytime rally.
Deeps of snow and wind of winters
Northern lights in trembling streamers,
Autumn colors frost begotten,
Frigid winter in May forgotten.
Changeful winds from sea and mountains
Spreading clouds like magic curtains,
Folding them in heaven's azure
Hued by sunbeams fitful pleasure,
Gorgeous landscapes ever changing
Into others soon evolving
In the round of forward seasons
Rich in scenic moods and passions.
Such the valley's rustic beauty
Giving zest to youthful duty.
There I learned the worth of neighbors
How result depends on labors
What the task of olden farming
How to learn with little schooling
Taught respect for loving parents
By their puritan attainments,
Found religious service irksome
With the angling good and gladsome
Felt the urge for exploration
Climbed the heights with trepidation
Saw Katadin's mountain splendor
Hampshire's mighty range in wonder
Norway village fair bewitching
Portland light my heart enticing
Caught the lure of high ambition
Saw the future's pregnant vision
Bright the halo o'er my pathway
Leading through the gates of Norway.
Restless then of valley boyhood
Thrilled by trenchant sense of manhood,
After long and patient waiting
Came the day of final parting,
Packed the things and loaded ready
Strong the heart and purpose steady
Day before the treking journey
To the lands of milk and honey.
Valley deep in Winter's slumber
Mountains robed in snowy splendor
Watched the parting sunset fondly
Lifting Shaw's ledge shadow gradely
Up the slopes of Witt's hill outline
When the summit bathed in sunshine
Seemed to flash from golden surface
Down to me its farewell solace.
Left behind in Greenwood valley
Mountain trails and castles airy
Youthful self in vale's embraces
Ever there in mem'ry traces,
Sturdy elf in homespun clothing
Mid the scenes his heart enchanting.
Oft I go with him, inviting,
On his rounds of youthful larking
Coasting snow encrusted mountains
Shaking thirst in crystal fountains
Angling brooks for speckled beauties
Bog for pike among the lillies
Thrilling trips with horse and carriage
Far away to Norway village
Hunting fox in mountain passes
Trapping mink in meadow grasses
Maple sap to "sheepskins" render
Hunking bees in chill October
May games joy when winter's over
Lining bees in fields of clover
Talking over his repining,
Joys and hopes his heart confiding
Seeing life through his ambitions
Telling him of my renditions.
Now he lives in witching valley
In his dreamland castles airy
Youthful sprite in home delightful
Ever thrilled by visions thoughtful.
Valley home my youth enshrining
One of thousands Maine confining,
Youthful homes of sturdy hearted
Who from Maine erstwhile departed.
Wonder then who live intently
In the vales and hills contently
With their youthful selves consorting
Why to Maine I come resorting!

She was very active as a member of the old Good Templers' Lodge and the Free Baptist church of which she was a member at the time of her death.

Her genial and smiling disposition was one long to be remembered.

NORWAY FRATERNAL BOWLING LEAGUE

Odd Fellows 1429; Eagles 1392

The Odd Fellows chased the Jinx at Parrin's Alleys, Thursday evening and won their first game in the Fraternal League series. The Eagles have a strong front and led the race until crowded out of the 100 per cent class in this contest.

As usual the Eagles opened with a rush and swept over the Odd Fellows with 25 pins in the first string. In the second trip the Odd Fellows cut the Eagles lead to six pins then jumped beyond the line during the final string and won.

Lapham, Paul Hosmer and Albert Snow led the winners in totals while Arthur Gammon secured the highest individual string with 113 and Paul Hosmer at 105 as second.

Roy Jordan was high bowler for the Eagles. He captured the largest total for the team and contest with 305 and highest individual string with 134.

The Eagles' first string of 509 is the second highest team mark thus far in a series and within 7 pins of duplicating the record 516 hung up by the Pythians on Mar. 24.

Oxford 1360; Norway 1307

The Oxford Reserves bowled a victory over the Norway Minute Men at Parrin's Alleys, Friday evening, cleaning up with 57 pins in three strings.

As a rule, scores ran low as it seemed an off night for many usually in better luck. Archie Parrin led the field at 289, with Wheeler of Oxford only 6 pins behind. Boynton and Baxter generally on the 300 clip, dragged behind with marks showing a run of hard luck. Breton led the second group with 278 which was some pins below his average. The score:

REBEKAH FAIR

Mt. Hope lodge of Rebekahs held their annual fair at the Odd Fellows' Hall on March 25, with a sale in the afternoon, cafeteria lunch and entertainment in the evening.

During the sale, tables decorated in green and pink displayed fancy articles, aprons and candy. A variety table offering everything from canned goods to jewelry, proved a busy place. Refreshments were served.

Many patronized the tea room where cafeteria lunches were served from 5 until 8.

A fine entertainment was given in the evening, featuring Mrs. Amy Marie Tracy and Miss Charlotte Longley. Mrs. Tracy's vocal selections included "Just A-Wearyin' for You," "The Hands of You," "Nothing But Love" and several encores. Her readings were "A Trip to Grandma's," monologue, "Betty at the Ball Game" and encores.

Miss Longley's recitations were "A Letter," "Ma and the Auto," Arabella and Sally Ann," "Pa and the Monthly Bills," and "Since Father Had a Radio."

Awarding several prizes created no little excitement. The decorated cake was awarded to Miss Lelia Watson, Miss Vera Smith secured the large quilt, and Mrs. Sophia Clark had the smaller quilt. A few aprons left after the sale were auctioned by Eugene F. Smith.

TIE WALKING IS DANGEROUS

Last Thursday forenoon the emergency brake probably saved the life of a woman. She was walking on Norway branch track unmindful of the approaching train. Engineer ("Parson") Jordan tooted the whistle and clanged the bell without attracting her attention. A similar thing happened a short time ago and the chances of running over a careless track walker, is getting on the nerves of the train crew. The train has the right of way with the crew held blameless in case of accidents, but the fact does not remove the nerve-strain when human life is at stake.

Tie walking is not only dangerous, but is trespassing, and an offender places himself in line for court proceedings. Probably something will be done to stop the practice on the branch. It may be warning signs, possibly an officer may be assigned the job of stopping this traffic.

Very true, the line is a direct course to South Paris and intermediate points and convenient, but that alibi cannot overshadow a law which will be impartially enforced if the practice does not cease.

STORE STEPS ARE SLEEPING PORCHES

Spring fever is raging and many of the afflicted ones line up along the store fronts and absorb the sunshine. At one place the steps have been used for a sleeping porch, much to the detriment of trade.

Customers have waited on the sidewalk for a clear path into the store, and after completing their purchases, have experienced another delay for a direct passage to the street. Sleep is good medicine, but there must be roosts fully as comfortable as concrete steps and less inconvenient to live ones awake and busy during daylight. That's the way some who have been there express it.

Mrs. Elizabeth Swett returned from a trip to Boston early this week. Her father, Jonathan Holman, was with Edward Anderson's family during her absence.

Pennesseewassee Lodge K. of P. will entertain delegations from Valley Spring Lodge at Waterford and Craigie Lodge of Oxford this Thursday evening. There will be work and a buffet lunch.

Martin & Elwell are painting and decorating the interior of the Probate office in the county buildings at South Paris.

The scraper has been used on Main Street to remove ice from the shady part of the cement.

Houghton Kimball was substitute librarian at Norway Public Library during the absence of his mother, Mrs. Eva M. Kimball, caused by an attack of grippe.

Mr. and Mrs. William Baldwin have moved to their home on Tuck Street after spending the winter with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin C. Thompson.

Local Electric History

From the Exciter:

It was a beautiful May morning way back in 1900. All nature smiled as Howard T. Sands, Superintendent of the Mechanic Falls Water Electric Light & Power Co., entered the finishing room of the Poland Paper Co.'s mill and, greeting an employee here and collecting a lighting bill there, grasped the hand of a young man, Elba E. Edgecomb, by name.

Mr. Edgecomb was at that moment engaged in lifting some heavy reels of paper to furnish one of the cutters. Mr. Sands observed, "That looks like pretty rugged work for so slight a man." Mr. Edgecomb acknowledged it was "just that." Next Mr. Sands says, "How would you like a lighter job with more pay?" "Meaning what?" inquires Mr. Edgecomb. "Night operator at the Power House," says Mr. Sands. "In one week we will start operating day and night, and if you would like it, you may have the night run." "Looks good to me," replied Mr. Edgecomb. And so on the evening of the 12th day of May, 1900, Mr. Edgecomb entered upon the duties of station operator at the Mechanic Falls Station, situated on the Little Androscoggin River at the junction of Norway and Pigeon Hill roads.

This station today is of practically no use, in those days it was a most glorious enterprise for it brought light to the darkened towns of Mechanic Falls, Hebron, Welchville and Oxford. This station was quite a curiosity to the rural community. There were two old-type Westinghouse generators, 2 phase, 4 wire 2,200 volts, frequency 60 cycles, speed 720 revolutions. They were of 75 to 90 kilowatts respectively. These generators were put into service in the year 1897 and the 90 K. W. is, I believe, in operation at the present time at the mills of the Robinson Mfg. Co., Oxford, Maine, which is quite a record for a generator.

Another curious feature was the main drive, which consisted of two 36-inch vertical Rodney Hunt turbines which were belted to a countershaft by a 22-inch 2-ply quarter-turn leather belt.

During the summer of 1902 the demand for power and lights increasing, together with a scarcity of water, the station operators were obliged to use every available means to keep the customers satisfied. It was deemed prudent by the management to install a steam plant which consisted of a 150 H. P. boiler built by the Portland Marine & Locomotive Works of Portland, Maine. This installation was completed November, 1903.

The plant was built by a stock company of which Hiram C. Rowell and Frank A. Rowell of Berlin, N. H., held the controlling interest, while Hiram Rowell filled the position of general manager and Howard T. Sands was the first superintendent, followed by Chas. E. Dustin, now located at Deer Rips Station. H. A. Edgecomb, at that time day operator at the station, assumed the position left vacant by the resignation of Mr. Dustin and Elba E. Edgecomb became day operator at the station. After a few years the high E. M. F. or some other attractive force of the Lewiston & Auburn Light & Power Company induced H. A. Edgecomb to follow the path of least resistance and affiliate with that company.

The next to get behind the "Super's" desk was Fred A. Dyer, then of Mechanic Falls. During his services the plant was purchased by the Lewiston & Auburn Electric Light & Power Co., of which W. Scott Libby was general manager and Fred D. Gordon was superintendent. After serving about 13 months, Mr. Dyer severed his connections with the company and John A. Hellen of Auburn came to fill the chair. A year or so in "Bog Hoote," gave him aspirations for greater fields, and so the chair is next filled by A. C. Barker until 1923.

Some time about 1915 or 1916 the Androscoggin Co. obtained control of the Norway & Paris Light & Power Co., also the Norway & Paris Street Railway Co. The names were changed to Oxford Electric Co., as was the Mechanic Falls plant. The line from Oxford was extended to Norway and on March 21, 1917, the Mechanic Falls plant tied in with the Norway plant through a set of Scott transmission transformers conspicuously situated on the roof of the boiler house.

This state of affairs continued until 12 o'clock noon, January 23, 1921, at which time the new 33,000 volt line from Deer Rips, Lewiston, to Mechanic Falls and the 11,000 volt line from Mechanic Falls to the power house, were connected to the Norway line and made alive.

The construction of these lines was under the direction of Bill Sherman.

At noon on the 23rd day of January, 1921, the old Mechanic Falls Station, giving a last mournful groan, breathed the last breath of a hard-fought life. On closing the station, Mr. Edgecomb was sent to Mechanic Falls as general utility man, Mr. Barker having transferred his office to Norway.

Mr. Edgecomb continued his duties until Dec. 6, 1923, at which time he was transferred to Norway Division as station operator, assuming the day trick, and on the 12th day of May, 1925, he will have rounded out an uninterrupted service of 25 years.

On July 31, 1923, Mr. Barker severed his connection with the company and Wallace A. Price of Augusta assumed the responsibilities and is very ably filling the position to the satisfaction of the management, the customers and, last but not least, the employees.

ADDITIONAL LANDS AUTHORIZED FOR WHITE MOUNTAIN NATIONAL FOREST

Twenty-one thousand acres are to be added to the White Mountain National Forest in New Hampshire as a result of the action recently taken by the National Forest Reservation Commission. This additional acreage will bring the total area of Government owned land in the White Mountain National Forest up to 462,200 acres. The purchase unit, which the Government will ultimately acquire in large part, embraces 960,600 acres.

W. W. Ash, Secretary of the National Forest Reservation Commission, makes the following statement:

"The recent authorization by the National Forest Reservation Commission for the purchase of 21,000 acres of additional lands as part of the White Mountain National Forest calls attention to the progress which has been made toward carrying this project to completion, and emphasizes the value of these lands to New England for protecting the headwaters of the Merrimac, Connecticut, and other rivers, and as a source of timber.

"The outside limits of the White Mt. National Forest as now defined embrace 960,000 acres of which 462,200 acres have been acquired or are in process of acquisition. This represents an investment for the land and timber of $3,270,000. In addition to the central mass of the White Mountains in New Hampshire, including the Presidential Range, the National Forest covers important tracts in Coos, Carroll, and Grafton counties and extends over into Oxford County, Maine. The gross area includes certain valley lands suitable for farms and other purposes which the Government will acquire, and if these are eliminated about 55 per cent of the land desirable for forest purpose has been purchased.

"The last purchase of 21,000 acres is important, not only since it consolidates the holdings of the Government and facilitates their administration, but it adds to the Government reserve a stand of nearly 70 million feet of merchantable timber. Some of this timber is in small bodies and by itself would scarcely be considered merchantable at the present time; but in connection with the timber which the Government already owns on adjoining lands all of it becomes available for commercial use.

"In addition to the present stand of 33 million feet of softwoods and more than 35 million feet of hardwoods, these recently acquired lands are capable of a sustained yearly production of probably 7,000 cords of softwood timber and about 2 million feet of hardwood timber. That is, they can produce currently this much timber each year for commercial use without any diminution of supply.

"The total stand of timber in the White Mountain National Forest is now estimated to be nearly one billion board feet of merchantable stock, of which more than half is softwoods suitable for making print paper. In comparison with the timber needs of a great industrial section like New England this amount is not large, but every addition to the National Forest increases the potential growth of timber which can be maintained without diminution for the future requirements of the region. Aside from the industrial value of this National Forest in conserving timber supply and stream flow, it has an important place in the outdoor recreation for the people of New England.

JOHN DEERE SPREADER

The patented beater construction gives you these distinctive advantages:

1. A box 6 to 10 inches lower than others—much easier to load.
2. High drive wheels—4 to 8 inches higher than others—gives extra traction—extra power. Load moves back to beater on rollers—saves the horses.
3. The simplest spreader built—no clutches, no chains, no adjustments for you to make—reduces repair bills—the spreader lasts years longer.
4. Beater close to ground—does not throw manure high in air—winds do not cause drifting of manure—does better work. Patented revolving rake prevents bunching.

Letter from Alma Pendexter Hayden

Writes of Norway Pupils

Editor of the Advertiser:

I read with great interest Don Seitz's Review of the Presidents.

He had them all in line and no halos allowed except to Lincoln.

His analysis of Wilson does not quite agree with that of Mary Allen Hulburt, who is writing some sketches that must be abhorrent to the Wilson family, though ostensibly written in his praise.

But to return to Norway. There is but one Don for us and we would all vote for him to be President of the United States and have confidence he would fill the position creditably.

When he was a mere youngster, and was exposing the "Ceiling Fraud" at Albany, the papers took notice and the politicians realized that he was a young man of ideas, who dealt with facts.

As he bade good by to Norway and started out in the world to make his way, we knew he had the courage and determination that would not fail him but it did not occur to us that he would reach so high a mark.

Don was one of my Norway pupils,—recited to me in French, Geometry and other subjects during his High School course. He and Dr. Frank Bradbury were in some of the classes together, in fact, they were "together" much of the time in school and out, sort of a "David and Jonathan" pair as I fancy they are today. The Dr. is also Major Bradbury, having served in two wars as surgeon in the army.

Prof. George R. Howe also recited to me in French and Geometry and, during my second period of teaching, brought specimens into my Natural History Class and gave them instructive and inspiring talks and I hear of his lectures before larger audiences. In that class was a budding young naturalist, Chas. Danforth, now Prof. of Biology. Now weren't the Norway boys smart? In fact I think of so many pupils of Norway, I must write of them at another time. Charles, Steve and Fred Cummings all recited to me also George. I think Ed. had not entered high school then. "The Cummings boys" have been successful, all fine men. Steve, Fred and Ed. have homes in Norway where I count it a privilege to live.

Dr. Harry Jones is another smiling member of my High School classes, who remains in the old town and continues in his father's business successfully.

Another of my pupils, well known in Norway, is Fred Smith of the National Bank.

Once I asked the English class to write a composition telling their ambitions and what work they intended to take up on leaving school. Some wrote in a joking way about their future, but Fred stated that he wished to be a respected citizen of the community and to have a position in the bank. His practical way of dealing with the subject that day surprised me, as he had not been, to say the least, in a serious mood.

I doubt if any of the class predicted their own future as accurately as he did and I have often thought of it since his "fortune came true."

My nephew, Charles P. Durrell, always says he is glad he went to Norway to school. Wouldn't have missed it for anything. He has followed teaching since he graduated from Bates College and shows the Pendexter trait in writing, having written, the past few years, several books for boys which have been very popular. Mr. Durrell is at the head of a school in Watertown, Mass.

I believe Dr. C. A. Stephens was the first Norway teacher to make a record writing stories. He has been widely known for a great many years.

I think the next author of stories from the rank of teachers in Norway High, is my brother, Hugh Pendexter, who came up from Bates to teach Greek and Latin, met a pretty teacher, and consequently lives there still—writing stories and stories, trying to keep up with the demand for his novels. I find his books in the libraries of Canada and all the cities where I go. He has been very successful and is widely known but seems to like Norway best. I don't blame him, I do.

I was much interested in C. E. Waterman's review of Don's biography of Pulitzer, which review shows a good command of English and a depth of understanding. It happens that Mr. Waterman was a pupil in my Latin class in Oxford High School and in the same class was the late Joseph R. Parrott who was afterward associated with Flagler, in Florida, as vice-president of the East Coast Railway. To Mr. Parrott belongs the credit of building the railway to Key West.

There are many other pupils of mine, of whom I shall some time write. I only hope they all remember me as pleasantly as I do them. If each class of mine since 1877 had a secretary, I would be pleased to have the address of those still living sent to me at 405 Columbus Avenue, Rochester, N. Y.

Just before Capt. Frank Bartlett started South at the time of the Spanish War, I was getting some pictures at his studio and when I paid for them he said, "Well, Miss Penn, this money may help to buy me a wooden leg." I often thought of it, after his death—a good and studious boy in my classes, a good man of whom his family may well be proud.

It was Howard Smith who hired me to teach in Norway High School in 1877. I had never been in the town and Mr. Smith was the means of my first entering Norway. I have often felt to thank him, for the town and the people have always been dear to me. I have taught in Norway at two different times since then and at each time have been appointed by Judge Wm. F. Jones, whom I have to thank for my renewal of the pleasant relationships of Norway.

With kind rememberances to my pupils and friends.—Alma Pendexter Hayden.

NEARLY INSANE AT TIMES

Mrs. Saunders Tells how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Relieved Troubles of Change of Life

Knoxville, Tenn.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound while going through the Change of Life. I was very nervous, could not sleep and had melancholy spells. In fact, I was nearly insane at times and my memory was almost a blank. I was so weak I could not do my housework half of the time and suffered dreadfully with my back. My doctor said I would have to worry it out and I went through this for three years before I began taking the Vegetable Compound which I saw advertised. I think it was eight bottles that I took. It has been two years since I took any and I haven't had a doctor since for that trouble. I do all my washing and ironing and I have gained from 116 to 138 pounds. I feel so well I think I do not need any medicine now, but I advise all women who suffer physically and mentally as I did to give the Vegetable Compound a fair trial. I hope it will do as much for them as it did for me."—Mrs. T. A. SAUNDERS, 711 E. Depot Street, Knoxville, Tenn.

EAST STONEHAM

William Adams

William Adams, one of Stoneham's oldest and most respected citizens, passed away at his home in North Stoneham on Monday, March 9. Death was due to heart failure and the end came very suddenly.

Mr. Adams was born in Stoneham, July 6, 1846. In 1868 he married Lottie Olive Brooks of Biddeford and six children were born to them; Herbert Melvin, who was the builder and owner of the widely known summer hotel and camps known as the Adam's Camps, at the head of Lake Kezar in Lovell. It will be remembered that this son met death by drowning in Kezar, on December 10, 1922.

Guy Welrose of Bridgton, who was formerly a barber in several large hotels in Boston, and who is at present in the automobile sales business in Bridgton, and is also an extensive buyer of standing timber and pulp wood.

Edith Lillian, wife of the late Victor Macalaster of Lovell. This daughter passed on in August of 1907.

Grace Velma, wife of Curtis D. Bickford of Stoneham. Mr. and Mrs. Bickford are the owners and managers of the attractive summer hotel known as "Keewaydin Cottage" and located on Lake Keewaydin in East Stoneham..

Blanche Isabelle, widow of the late Fred L. McKeen of Stoneham and Stoneham's present post mistress.

Charles Hayward, a well known chef, and at one time associated with his brother, Guy, in the automobile sales business.

Mr. Adams' second marriage was with Sarah Ridlon of Sweden. To this union were born five daughters, Josie May, Goldie Frances, wife of Fred Wight of Gilead; Alice Marilla, a teacher in the public schools; Lottie Maude, wife of Willis Warren of Stoneham and Ethel Phylinda, wife of John Files, Jr., also of Stoneham. The second Mrs. Adams passed to the higher life, January 18, 1917.

Mr. Adams' entire life had been spent in his native town of Stoneham with the exception of a few years previous to his marriage, when he was employed in the cotton mills of Biddeford and Saco. After his marriage, Mr. Adams returned to the home farm and here were born his large family of eleven children. Through hard work, careful management and much self-denial, Mr. Adams, with the aid of his family at large, became very prosperous, and about twenty-five years ago he built a fine set of farm buildings on the home farm. His place became a welcome home to fishermen in the spring and huntsmen in the autumn. Mr. Adams gave up active labor about two years ago but continued to "chore" about the home until the last, and had been driving his own car the past two summers. Special mention should be made of the devotion of two of the daughters, Lottie M., who was ever a faithful assistant and an interested helper in the work and management of the large farm until her marriage three years ago, and Josie M., who was with her father until the end. In spite of the loneliness of the farm life after the mother's death, and the departure of all other members of the family to other walks of life, this daughter remained in the home and was ever mindful of the father's health and comfort. Such devotion is surely worthy of reward.

Mr. Adams will be greatly missed. His age was 79 years. Burial was in the family lot in Hillside Cemetery, East Stoneham.

Public Library and Reading Room Assured

One hundred and more persons attended the banquet and subsequent meeting of the South Paris Board of Trade at Odd Fellows Hall, Monday evening. The library question was discussed and progress made toward the realization of the Seneca Club's vision which materialized into a movement for a reading room back in 1905. This was an enthusiastic meeting generously inclined as proved by a free will cash offering of $117.60 collected by Dr. Stewart.

The banquet call was given at 6.30. Grace was said by all in words set to the tune of "America," after which President Clarence G. Morton presided at a brief service in memory of the late Leslie L. Mason, formerly president of the Board. His remarks were well chosen and reflected the deep feeling of the entire gathering. All stood in their places with bowed heads for a few minutes, and then sang "Nearer My God to Thee."

The banquet proceeded and was served by the ladies for the benefit of the Canton. A fine menu included mashed potatoes, cold meats, salads, bread, doughnuts, ice cream, coffee. Singing was enjoyed at intervals with Mrs. Alton C. Wheeler at the piano.

Cigars were lighted and President Morton opened an informal get-to-gether, commencing with the Seneca Club library project. The discussion drifted along general lines until Mrs. Charles H. Howard, treasurer of the club, outlined the story of humble beginnings and present financial conditions. Since the plan took concrete form in 1917, the ladies have raised $12,720.13, including generous gifts from Charles Deering of Chicago and others. The Stowell property corner of Main and Church Streets, was purchased some years ago for $3000. and is being cleared. Mrs. Howard reported a surplus of $9,720.73 on deposit for a library building. She estimated approximately $10,000 more would be required to erect a fire-proof building of a size and design befitting its use and location.

A free discussion followed in which the kind of building, ways and means for its erection and uses were questions of importance. Remarks were made by J. H. Stuart, who agreed to be one of twenty to give $50. Albert W. Walker proposed to be one other of that group. An offer from Harry Jordan of Philadelphia, manager of Keith's Theatres, was presented. This offer was to be one of twenty to give $500. Harry A. Morton responded and asked to be one of that number provided the quota might be filled.

O. K. Clifford proposed a Fourth of July celebration to raise funds, and Earl Clifford, a representative of the American Legion, offered tentative plans made by that organization for the Fourth. He said the Legion is behind any civic movement for the betterment of the community and the boys would be glad to join forces and turn the receipts into the library fund. A rising vote of thanks was given the American Legion.

The celebration plan was heartily approved and led to a motion by Alton C. Wheeler, which went through with two or three amendments that the president be authorized to appoint committees as needed to cooperate with the Legion and Seneca Club in any celebration or drive which they or others may put on. The idea is to make this a community project with every person, young or old, a partner or booster. This motion was carried with enthusiasm.

The free-will offering to bring the Seneca Club's funds up to even money was a happy thought and passed the mark set by the most optomistic: Dr. D. M. Stewart passed Mrs. Howard's spring hat and green backs filled it to the rim, the sum being $117.60.

Mrs. Alton C. Wheeler, president of the club, expressed deep gratitude for the moral support and financial aid to a project dear to the heart of every member. She emphasized this movement is a community project and not confined to the Club. While that group conceived the idea, and fostered the plan many years, it was a public enterprize for each to share and receive its lasting benefits through cooperation.

Several matters for the betterment of the community were discussed by Edward P. Woodbury, H. Walter Dennison, Ralph R. Butts, Rev. J. L. Wilson, William P. Morton, Supt, Alden Hayes and others.

The name of Wm. P. Morton was added the the publicity committee appointed several weeks since by President Clarence Morton. This Committee has been authorized to put Paris on the map in line with the State advertising campaign to boom Maine. A suggestion for all auto owners to tag their vehicles with "South Paris" plates met hearty approval.

The gathering adjourned to the Strand Theatre and witnessed the photo classic, "Jack Spruce," furnished by the Great Northern Paper Company. It was a great picture with thrills and useful information.
